The moral of this myth is that the story uses the lotus flower as an example to symbolise that the awakening of compassion and inner transformation can, at times depend on the dark and troublesome elements within yourself. Such that in a world where the struggle with suffering seems to have become a way of life.

The Lotus Flower and the Painful Mud of Life

The lotus is often understood as a symbol of spiritual purity. The blooming of a lotus is said to mimic the Buddhist eightfold path — it grows from the mud (the cycle of life), it appears clean on the surface and floats above the mud (purification), before finally producing a beautiful flower (enlightenment).
